TREATY WITH CHINA:

On the 17th of March last, a new treaty with China in further regulation of emigration was signed at Washington, and on Aug. II. It received the sanction of the Senate. Ratification on the part of China and formal exchange are awaited to give effect to this mutually beneficial convention.

A gratifying recognition of the uniform impartially of this country towards all foreign Elates was manifested by the coincident request of the Chinase and Japanese Governments, that the agents of the United States should, within proper limits, afford protection to the subjects of the other during the suspension of diplomatic relations due to an accepted, and a misnoprehension to the save rise to the bellef that in affording this kindly unomic all potection, our gents would exercise the same authority which the withdrawn agents of the belligerents had exercised, was promptly corrected. Although the war between China and Japane collargers so policy of the United States, it deserves our gravest consideration by reason of a disturbance of our growing commercial interests in the two countries and increased dangers which may reall to our rittrees domiciled or sementing in the interior of China.

"If any one will fairly and dispassionately consider the President's recommendation about sugar, it will become apparent that it comes down to this: The Sugar Company has taken action, the result of which is to deprive temporary of work 25.00 persons employed in the various industries dependent upon the refining of sugar, together with the members of their families. I recommend such action as to deprive those persons of work permanently. If the industry is languishing, the proper course is to destroy it."

The Board of Governors of the Coney Island Jockey Club met this morning in their rooms at the Cumberland. After an hour's consultation, the following statement was issued for publication:

The Coney Island Jockey Club, at a meeting of its Board of Governors to-day, decides that it would noture the losses required to folfal its obligations to horse-owners and breeders, if left in a position to do as after this Winter's beginstom, by running off its fixed events, and that all entires for the Poturity of 187; and other great stakes would only be received under such conditions.

Col. Lawrence Kip, J. G. Bradford, Cornelius Fellowes, John M. Bowers Charles H. Kerner, Thomas Hitchcock William H. Tailer, John G. Hecksher, Herbert V. Pell, J. H. Alexander, A. Newbold Morris, Senator H. Peabody Wetmore, Robert Centre, Gen. Butter Wetmore, Robert Centre, Gen. Butter-field, F. Guy Griswold and Robert Goelet. This arnouncement of the Coney Isl and Jockev Club will carry joy to the hearts of the horsemen, It means that the Coney Island Jockey Club has the in-erests of the sport at heart, and will certainly race unless stringent measures are adopted by the Legislature in Janu-ary.

are adopted by the Legislature in January.

The action was taken on the advice of the Club's counsel, John M. Bowers, who presented an opinion this morning, viewing the situation from every standpoint. If the Legislature should interpret a stake or a purse as a lottery, and adopt measures punishing persons offering stakes and purses, of course, no meeting will be held. The C. I. J. C. will do nothing to violate the laws of the State. The corey leland Jockey Club is the foremost racing association in this country, and its action as taken to-day, seems to indicate that the racing situation is not as bad as it might be.

Burns is Shocked.

After listening for two hours to the testimony Mr. Burns expressed himself as "shocked and dumfounded."

"As the sallors have it. I was brought up with a round turn," said he to an "Evening World reporter.

"I did not think it possible that a condition of affairs such as indicated by the testimony of the witnesses I heard could be possible in a large city such as this. "It only shows to what an astonishing extent fraud can go under what is popularly believed to be a good government.

"I have never known of such a system of corruption in London, and do not think it could exist for even a short time. As we say over there, "We manage such things better in England." "Of course. I heard but a few witnesses, and it may be but one side of the case; but I never conceived even such allegtions of corruption possible."

Mr. Burns spoke of Mr. Goff as "a brilliant man and one of the very best cross-examiners he had ever heard."

Mr. Jerome, who has been so much engaged with the affairs of the LXX, that he could not attend the hearings before election, was in his old place again.

A number of flashily dressed women had come in mean time, and had been excorted to scats in the witnesses' corner by Sergeant-at-Arms Schram, which gave ground for the Chairman's supposition. A large number of policemen in uniform were also on hand, but no prominent officials of the Department had appeared. Chairman Lexow further stated that the committee would undoubtedly inquire and the methods and practices of the police courts of the city before long, but no special programme had been arranged for this branch of the inquiry.

"We shall take up the matter whenever a point of interest is suggested, as we have in the past, and dovetail the Police Court and of the investigation into the main inquiry to save time."

Father Duccy Arrives.

When Father Thomas Ducey arrived to went to his usual place. "I've saved your chair for you, sir, said Sergeant-st-arms Schram, as he led the priest around to his customary seat in front of the bench. "Thank your you did well," returned Father Ducey survely. "Well, you can be sent to State prison for fitteen years for the offense you say you committed."

"I didn't think I was doing anything wrong. I did it as a favor to a friend, and they told me it would be all right," replied Lewis, beginning to show signs of nervousness.

Q. Who told you to sign the paper? A. I don't remunier new. It was some of Mmethause's friends. They told me it was only a matter of form, and that I would not have any him more to do with the license.

Air. Goff read the affidavit signed by Lewis, in which he swore he had purchased the right, title and interest in the Malson Tortoni and its business for $3.000. Q. In that true? A. No. atr; I sever paid a out.
Q You also awear Mine. Chaude gave you a bill of sale of the property on then. 10, 1887. Was that rus? A. No. I never had any bill of sale of my justicant in the house whatever. I simply supplied her with meat.

Signed Without Reading. Lewis denied every statement aworn y him in the affidavit, and said it was use and untrue. Yet his signature we trached. He explained this by sayin

You tried to get away this morning, didn't A. No. ar. You didn't expect to be summaned? A. No. One of your men met me there. I had an ap-ointment to meet a man.

Q. Who did you come to the court-house to see! Ryan hesitated a long time, and finally said he came to see Daniel Finn, his counsel, who was also a deputy sheriff.

Q. How long barn you been in the green-goods business? A I don't know what you goods business? A. I decline to answer.

Q. Du you mean to may you are not in the green-goods business? A. I decline to answer.

Q. On the ground that it would tend to degrade and disgrace you? A. Yes, sir.

Afraid of Diagrace.

Mr. Ryan refused to tell what he had employed Finn to do for him, saying that it might disgrace and incriminate him in the eyes of his fellow-men. He finally said he had retained Finn in some friv-olous cases. One was a case of a charge

Mr. Ryan yawned at this point,

Q Now, Mr. Byan, you know you were engaged
